

Dragados Achieves ISO 27001 Certification in Information Security

Dragados has been awarded the ISO/IEC 27001 certification by AENOR, recognizing the successful implementation of an Information Security Management System (ISMS) aligned with the most rigorous international standards.

This achievement represents a significant step forward in our risk management and information protection strategy, reinforcing our commitment to operational excellence and continuous improvement.

Key benefits of this certification include:

- Assurance that the information managed by Dragados is protected in line with the principles of confidentiality, integrity, and availability.
- Strengthening the trust of our clients, partners, employees, and other stakeholders.
- Enabling participation in new projects and tenders where this certification is a mandatory requirement.
- Enhancing our ability to identify, assess, and mitigate information security risks.

This accomplishment reflects the collective commitment of all departments within the organization to Information Security—a commitment we will continue to strengthen daily every day, and which will be essential for maintaining and renewing this certification in the future.
